

Gus LEHRER

University of SYDNEY, Australia

gilehrer@yahoo.com.au

Counting rational points and symmetries of toric varieties.

Counting rational points over finite fields may be used to compute group actions on the cohomology of complex varieties, using Hodge decompositions. I shall give some background on the general method, and illustrate an application to toric varieties associated to Weyl groups.